

According to the World Health Organisation, adults spend approximately one third of their lives at work. Our work in Early Childhood Education requires sustained high physical, mental and emotional effort to complete our job. A range of workplace determinants can have a negative or positive impact on the health and wellbeing of an employee. Within our Centre, we are committed to promoting a positive work environment where the health, safety and wellbeing of our employees is acknowledged and supported.

Wellness is more than just an active process of becoming aware of and learning to make healthy choices for our mental, physical and social needs to ensure our body is maintained and works efficiently. Wellness is “about our overall state of wellbeing that enables us to live and function at our best.” (Queensland Government, 2019, Healthier. Happier. Workplaces).

We believe in providing a healthy workplace that values and enhances the health and wellbeing of our employees. We will ensure that all work practices value, enhance and protect the health and wellbeing of all employees. Promoting wellbeing can help prevent stress and create a positive working environment where individuals and organisations thrive.

As our employees care for and educate children, it is essential to support them with the right tools and resources to make healthier choices to improve their own health and wellbeing. Employees who remain healthy increase productivity, enhance the workplace culture, and embody the healthy behaviours we convey to children on a daily basis. We believe in using the workplace for improving and maintaining good health.

Our centre is committed to developing a shared vision to improve the health and wellbeing of our employees. We believe the development of a Wellness Program may build an awareness of a healthy culture within our organisation and motivate and engage all employees to be involved in improving their own health and wellbeing.

Wellness Program

Our work in Early Childhood Education requires sustained high physical, mental and emotional effort to complete our job. Such sustained work demands can have an impact on the wellbeing of employees. A Wellness Program may help individual employees overcome specific health-related issues. Our centre will encourage employees to create a shared vision to develop a Wellness Program that reflects and addresses the needs of our current staff and creates a wellness culture.

Components of a Wellness Program include:

Environmental wellness:

- Finding satisfaction within the work environment
- Ensuring the work environment and relationships are comfortable and supportive
- Recognising opportunities that lead to new skills and acting on those opportunities
- Working to ensure the stability and longevity of the natural environment

Emotional wellness:

- Keeping a positive attitude
- Being sensitive to your feelings and the feelings of others
- Learning to cope with stress
- Being realistic about your expectations and time
- Taking responsibility for your own behaviour
- Dealing with your personal and financial issues realistically
- Viewing challenges as an opportunity
- Being able to work independently

Being able to work within a team, and knowing you can ask for help

Spiritual Wellness:

- Being open to different cultures and religions
- Participating in community projects
- Defining personal values and ethics
- Participating in spiritual activities
- Caring about the welfare of others
